

Senior Researcher / Leader of a Research Programme

EUROPEUM Institute for European Policy is an independent, non-profit and non-political think-tank based in the Czech Republic and Brussels. EUROPEUM is focused mainly on European issues, including analysis of Czech European politics and topics such as EU institutions, EU foreign policy, defense and security, green transformation, EU enlargement, and others. The organization conducts original research, organizes events for the public and experts, carries out advocacy activities and implements international projects.

We are currently looking for a Senior Researcher/Leader of a Research Programme for one of our work streams with a research focus on topics such as EU's climate policy and decarbonization of industry, role of the EU as a global player, social dimension of EU regulatory framework, cohesion policy and/or MFF.

Job description:

- Coordination and development of research activities of one of the programmes
- Leading a small team of researchers, project managers and interns
- Ensure the delivery and development of the strategic goals of the programme, contribution to further development of the whole Institute
- Development of your own research projects/agendas in line with the overall goals of the Institute
- Advocacy for the programme's priorities towards European and Czech decision-makers, stakeholders and public, oversight on advocacy events
- Active public engagement through media, social networks and public discussions

What we expect:

- Completed master's programme with a focus on European Studies, Sociology, Political Science, Economics or other relevant field. A completed or ongoing Ph.D. is a significant asset
- Fluency in English both written and oral. Fluency in Czech is an asset. Proficiency in French, and/or German would be an advantage
- Good analytical skills and experience with basic/applied social science methods
- A thorough understanding of the EU institutions and decision-making processes
- At least 5 years of relevant experience in academia, NGOs or public administration
- Prior experience in project management and/or fundraising is an asset
- Motivation and ability to work in a dynamic international team and environment

What we offer:

- Work in a leading Czech think-tank respected through Europe
- A meaningful job influencing Czech and European politics
- Professional development and career growth in a diverse international team of experienced researchers
- Possibility to network with Czech and international experts and decision-makers and to build up own expertise
- Offices in the heart of Prague, and participation in activities through Europe
- Flexible working time, possibility to partially work from home based on your needs, we are open also to a part-time cooperation
- Competitive salary

If interested, please send your CV and motivation letter and examples of your articles or other work to jobs@europeum.org.

Please write "Senior Researcher/Leader of a Research Programme" as the subject of your email.

Interviews will be taking place on rolling basis. Europeum reserves the right to terminate the call in case of a successful application.