August 2023/3

Last chance to apply for the internship and the FLEET 2023 programme | New DezinforCzech project

Welcome to the third newsletter of August.

We kindly remind you that this week is your last chance to apply for a six-month internship!

We are accepting applications until Sunday 27.8. Apply for a six-month internship in the organizational or communication department, starting in September 2023. More information can be found on our website.

We also remind you that you can apply for the FLEET 2023 program. If you are interested in transatlantic relations, this program is for you! FLEET 2023 is a unique opportunity to meet important representatives and influential personalities of the transatlantic community, which is open to all those interested in transatlantic relations. The program will consist of six discussions starting on September 18. Send applications by Monday 4 September. More information can be found on our website.

Screening of the film ThuleTuvalu and the subsequent debate will take place on August 31 at the Institute of International Relations located at Nerudova 3. Admission is free, but please register for capacity: <https://www.iir.cz/letni-kino-s-debatou>.

Another news this month is the DezinforCzech project aimed at uncovering the most common disinformation narratives around European issues. The theme for August is the Green Deal and its specific narratives. Every month until November, we will present a new disinformation topic and its associated disinformation narratives. We will be compiling all the news for you in our newsletter each month. You can find the current summary below 📌.

Thank you for subscribing.

Your EUROPEUM

Report | Café Evropa: Turkey after the elections, what direction it will take

Our intern Vít Marek wrote a report from the Café Evropa debate on the topic: "Turkey after the elections, which direction will it go?". Hosts of the debate were Lucia Najšlová, political scientist and author of the book Turkey and the EU: The Politics of Belonging, Deník N journalist Dominika Píhová and Břetislav Tureček, head of the Center for Middle East Studies at the Metropolitan University in Prague.
